POSTGRADUATE INSTITUTE OF EUROPEAN STUDIES

OUR HISTORY

1948

The Hague Congress: de Madariaga, Churchill, Spaak and de Gasperi, among others, decide to found the College of Europe

1949

The College of Europe in Bruges was founded in response to WWII and to bolster the emerging European integration effort

1992

The College of Europe in Natolin was founded after the Cold War, when European integration already had several decades of history and experience, and great ambitions to cover more areas and geographies

OBJECTIVES & FEATURES

- Carried out in Natolin (Warsaw), Poland, an ideal location at the EU's external border for the exploration of the EU's neighbourhoods as well as Central and Eastern Europe.
- Designed for students seeking to develop their competencies and advance their studies beyond preconceptions and disciplinary boundaries, and who want to widen their perspectives on Europe and the world.
- Built on interdisciplinarity since its beginnings, our approach to European Affairs is problem-based, addressing contemporary, historical, and future challenges.
- Crafted upon 30 years of experience, allowing for personal and professional growth, through knowledge, skills and campus experience.
- The Natolin Offer allows students to chart their individual path based on their interests. No two students follow the same curriculum.

SECOND SEMESTER: MAJORS

4 customizable specializations (majors)
80+ topics to choose from

EU PUBLIC AFFAIRS AND POLICIES

This major covers EU governance and critical policies like the internal market, competition, macroeconomics, migration, energy, environment, and social issues. Students study how EU institutions interact with external stakeholders and analyze complex challenges like employment, inflation, and economic growth.

THE EU AND ITS COMPLEX NEIGHBOURHOODS

This major allows students to obtain a better understanding of the multi-faceted policies of the EU towards the countries in the EU's neighbourhoods. It also provides an opportunity to study the political, socio-political, socio-economic, legal, energy, and identity related developments in the neighbourhood itself.

THE EU AND THE WORLD

This major explores two key aspects: challenges and global relations. Students study pressing issues like trade, investment, energy, governance, security, human rights, and more, all within the context of EU involvement. Additionally, students gain expertise in EU relations with global actors across Europe, Asia, Africa, the Americas, and other regions.

EUROPEAN HISTORY AND CIVILIZATION

This major fosters a deep understanding of European integration, encouraging students to rethink Europe's future through a study of its past. It features courses on democracy, totalitarianism, geopolitics, diplomacy, the making of the global economy and the fallout from European empires, and on history of Central and Eastern Europe, the Balkan countries, the Mediterranean and other seas.

STUDY TRIPS

1st semester: BORDERLANDS

2nd semester: REGIONAL VISITS

Two one-week-long study trips, one per each academic semester.

The study trips are an integral part of the study curriculum and provide students with a full immersion in topical issues on-site with key experts and decision makers.
